B-29s Land at Washington after Stop at Chicago

Fuel Shortage Defeats Plan To Fly Non-Stop from Japan

Adverse Winds Cut Deeply into Gas Supply, Forcing Big Planes Down
650 Miles from Goal

By JAMES J. STREIB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Three B-29s completed tonight the first flight direct from Japan to the capital, but failed to make it non-stop because of unexpected headwinds.

"We hit weather you wouldn't hit once in fifty times," declared Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles, leader of the Superfortress flight which landed at National airport shortly before 10 p. m. EWT.

Tired and disappointed, but far from downhearted, Giles declared the same trip would be made non-stop many times in the future.

The three huge ships flew nearly 7,000 miles from the island of Hokkaido, stopping to refuel at Chicago, 650 miles from their goal.

Giles disclosed that they landed at Chicago with from 700 to 1,200 gallons of gasoline in their tanks, but had chosen not to take any chances with the big planes.

"This was a practical test, not a stunt," Giles said.

The three mighty bombers, stripped of the guns which they had carried into combat over Japan, left Minami airfield near Sapporo, capital of the northernmost of the Japanese main islands, at approximately 4 p. m., Eastern War Time, Tuesday, and reached Chicago around 10 p. m. EWT today.

Avoid Greets Crews
They flew on to Washington in just over two hours.

H. H. Arnold, army air force chief who was among the score or more of generals waiting to greet the three twelve-man crews, said the flight was made to see "just what we might expect from an airplane of this type."

"I think we found out quite a bit," he said. "We found out, at least, that we can fly from Japan to Chicago with headwinds all the way."

Giles said that the worst headwinds were encountered between Nome and Fairbanks, Alaska, and that the unfavorable condition continued well on into Canada. He said that with the normal wind one could expect they would have landed here with 1,500 gallons of fuel in their tanks.

The big planes carried 10,000 gallons of gasoline each, which meant thirty tons of fuel in their wings and bomb bays.

Giles said he understood that the field from which they took off was built with the intention of using it to launch one-day suicide bombers against the United States, but that the Japanese never were successful in building the bomber.

Jap Engineers Failed
Arnold interposed at this point in the press conference following the flight, "just because we could build a B-29 from a drawing board into production there's no reason to believe that the Japs could do it too."

Giles laughed and said, "If you could see Japan you would know why they couldn't do it."

The Japs built only four of the long-range four-engine bombers, the general rule, but they were unsuccessful as he understood it, because the engineers could not design the wing just right. He added that he had not seen any of the four planes.

The other two planes were commanded by Gen. Emmett (Roy) O'Donnell and Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay. O'Donnell recalled that when he and Giles went to Sapporo to look over the airfield they took the K-rations to a hotel to be served. O'Donnell said he told the waiter that he was lucky because they had Sapporo on the list for the atomic bomb, whereupon the little Jap bowed and said, "Oh, thank you, thank you."

Reception Cheers Fliers
Maj. Frederick S. Schaeffer, New Cumberland, Pa., lead pilot on Giles' plane, rated the weather they encountered as "one day in a hundred," and said they would have

Americans Try To Explode Jap Idea Soldier Is Disgraced when Captured

By JAMES D. WHITE

Associated Press Staff Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19 (AP)—A first and great step has been taken in the re-education of Japan.

The American army of occupation setting out to convince the Japanese people that they should welcome back their men who were captured by Allied forces during the war.

The barrier that has to be broken down is one of the silliest of the ideas that underlie the Japanese conception of honor, bravery and what makes a man.

That is the idea that it is a mortal disgrace to be captured, and that a Japanese who lets this happen to himself has no place in society.

This idea stems from the belief that a Japanese soldier represents a divine cause and therefore cannot lose. This of course doesn't jibe with the facts of life, especially those on the battlefield, and the custom of considering a Japanese "dead" who

Wedemeyer in Shanghai

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19 (AP)—Lt. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, commanding general of American forces in the China theater, arrived in Shanghai today for a short visit preparatory to establishing headquarters.

Wedemeyer, who was in the China theater since the beginning of the war, is the first American general to visit Shanghai since the Japanese evacuation.

He will be in Shanghai for about a week, and will then return to his headquarters in Chungking.

Administration Plans Are Dealt Jolts by Senate

House Committee Approves Bill To Streamline Government

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Congress handed President Truman's peacetime legislative program a couple of heavy jolts today—and one big boost.

The jolts still aren't permanent. But the Senate:

Voted 51 to 23 for putting the United States Employment Service back under state management, as before the war. Mr. Truman didn't want that. He said it would slow reconversion and handicap veterans and workers.

Voted 51 to 29 against giving states enough federal money to pay the jobless up to $25 a week. The president wanted the $25.

But from the House Expenditures committee he got something he favored—approval of a bill to let him merge and abolish government bureaus and commissions in the interests of economy and efficiency.

House and Senate still have to act on that measure.

And the Senate didn't take a final vote on the jobless pay bill. It may Thursday. Then it will be up to the House.

Busiest Day of Session
The key provision still in the measure would let the government give the states cash to extend their present jobless payments through twenty-six weeks. State rates vary from $15 to $28. The duration also varies.

Other top topics, on the busiest day of this first postwar congressional session, were:

1. Reconversion. "Full employment" and minimum wage bills moved forward.

2. Demobilization. Congressmen still want faster service discharges.

3. The navy's peacetime size. The admirals want a big, powerful fleet. This happened:

Reconversion—Six hundred banner-bearing New York CIO members stormed Capitol Hill demanding action, about like the president asked, on jobless pay, "full employment," and a higher minimum wage.

Employment Bill Is Changed
Chairman Norton (D-NY), of the House Labor committee, saw Mr. Truman. She said she "left with the impression" he favors raising from forty to sixty cents an hour the minimum wage required of firms in interstate commerce. She returned to the Capitol, dropped in a bill to do that.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) predicted the Senate Banking committee would approve Tuesday a full employment bill.

The committee changed the bill today to say all Americans able and desiring to work "are entitled" (instead of "have the right") to an opportunity for remunerative, regular, full-time employment. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said this "removes the fraud of fooling the people" about job guarantees.

Demobilization—The House Republican Steering committee—It shapes party policy in the House—backed the immediate release of fathers and two-year veterans from the armed forces.

"Lord Haw Haw" Is Sentenced To Hang

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—William Joyce, the scarred little "Lord Haw Haw" who broadcast Nazi propaganda to the British throughout the war, was convicted of treason in Old Bailey today and sentenced to be hanged.

Not a flicker of expression crossed the ruddy face of the thin-lipped defendant as Sir Frederick Tucker, the presiding judge, had a black cap placed on his wig and pronounced the sentence.

As he descended to his cell, however, Joyce turned toward acquaintances in the courtroom and gave a Nazi-type salute.

A crowd waiting outside the bomb-scarred law courts cheered the news. It took the jury of ten men and two women, who had listened for three days to arguments over Joyce's nationality, only twenty minutes to reach a verdict.

The defendant, whose face is scarred from mouth to ear as the result of a street brawl, sought to evade punishment by claiming American citizenship on grounds that he was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., thirty-nine years ago.

Justice Tucker ruled today, however, that Joyce owed allegiance to the British crown when he went to Germany "wrapped up in the Union Jack"—under the protection of a British passport obtained by posing as a British subject—just before the war broke out.

At his news conference yesterday a reporter asked the president about a statement attributed to Davis that the administration favored an increase of fifty per cent in wages without any accompanying rise in prices. The president said Davis was not speaking for the administration.

In his letter to Davis, made public by the White House late in the day, after Davis had paid a call there earlier, Mr. Truman said:

"I have seen the transcript of your recent press conference, accounts of which occasioned some misunderstanding. The transcript itself shows that the true purpose of your discussion was to express the hope and confidence that the eco-

Schwellenbach Seeks Industrial Peace in Detroit

By AROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The possibility of government intervention in the Detroit automotive strikes took top billing today as Secretary Lewis B. Schwellenbach regrouped his strengthened Labor department.

The secretary conferred with Edgar L. Warren, whom he has appointed to head a rejuvenated United States Conciliation Service, on the department's new role in dealing with disputes which during the Labor department, then headed by Francis Perkins.

Warren, 42-year-old former chairman of the Chicago Regional War Labor Board, was first on Schwellenbach's calling list after President Truman signed an executive order shifting the WLB, the United States Employment Service, and the expiring War Manpower Commission to his department.

The War Labor Board met in emergency session with Chairman George W. Taylor, then conferred for an hour with Schwellenbach.

Whether resignations will follow the presidential stripping of the board's independent status was not immediately apparent.

Machinery to be set up under Schwellenbach for handling peace-time disputes is expected to be developed at the labor-management conference in November.

President Truman was told today by H. A. Brunner, president of the American Automobile Association, that unless the labor-management conference is handled "firmly and speedily" the 500,000 new cars expected by the public this year will not become a reality. He referred to the Detroit labor-industry clashes which, unless settled amicably, he said, will delay auto production.

Hunter Finds Body Of Unidentified Soldier

FRENCHTOWN, Md., Sept. 19 (AP)—Dr. R. C. Dodson, Cecil county medical examiner, reported tonight that the body of an unidentified soldier, who apparently had been dead about three months, was found today in the woods near Frenchtown by Edward R. Bines, who was squirrel hunting.

Cause of death was undetermined. Dr. Dodson said the soldier's pockets contained only a Catholic prayerbook and a case knife inscribed "U. S. Army." The examiner said the man apparently was between 30 and 35 years old.

State police were investigating.

2,600 Railroaders Return

FRANKFURT, Sept. 19 (AP)—More than 2,600 high-point railroad workers have been returned to the United States since August 1 and 700 others are to leave this month, army headquarters said today.

Yugoslav Boundary Accord Is Reached

By JOHN A. FARRIS, JR.

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Big Five nations said tonight they had reached substantial agreement on the troublesome Italo-Yugoslav boundary dispute and had turned over to their deputies the drawing of the actual boundary line.

A communique issued after two sessions today of the Big Five council said it had been decided to make Trieste, now in Italian hands, an international port, and to give each national sovereignty over peoples speaking its language.

This solution, giving Yugoslavia less than she had asked and taking from Italy more than she wanted to give up, apparently was in line with the formula proposed by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov yesterday.

"Territories which belong to Croats and Slovenes should be returned to them. Those which are Italian in character, it will be proper for Italy to take," Molotov told a press conference.

The foreign ministers said the new boundary would, in the main, be "the ethnic line, leaving a minimum under alien rule, on the understanding that appropriate investigations will be carried out on the spot before the final delimitation of the frontier."

The foreign ministers previously turned over to their deputies the question of what should be done with Italy's colonies. No mention has been made of their plans for the Dalmatian islands which Yugoslavia has been demanding.

OPA Chief Will Request House Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles tonight announced he would ask Congress for price controls on old houses, newly-built houses and residential real estate.

Control over the prices of completed homes is essential, Bowles told a news conference, "if we are to avoid a serious inflationary boom in this field."

The price administrator said the measure would be introduced in Congress shortly with "the complete support" of Reconstruction Director John W. Snyder, who yesterday ordered all construction restrictions eliminated on October 15—including the price limit on new homes.

"Mr. Snyder agrees to this plan and will back up my recommendation," Bowles said.

OPA's only control over housing prices at present is on the "custom-built" dwelling—that is, one built to the buyer's blueprint by a contractor. Even this control, exercised through OPA's ceilings on contractors' services, is rather "loose," Bowles said.

"We have no control of prices on homes built for resale, old houses, or on residential real estate," he went on. "We will ask for it."

Congress previously has refused to authorize ceilings on property.

Bowles also announced in a statement, which he amplified at a news conference, that he intended to put into effect a program sharply tightening OPA's control over building material prices. These controls also will cover most of the fixtures and household equipment which go into a new home, and construction services.

Regional and district OPA offices throughout the country will prepare specific dollars-and-cents prices on as many items as possible, Bowles said.

Camouflage at Martin Firm Cost $2,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—A total of $2,000,000 was spent in camouflage the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft Company's Baltimore plant, the Office of the Chief of Engineers, United States Army, has disclosed, and the war ended without enemy planes coming within hundreds of miles.

The army office directed the camouflage and explained that $2,000,000 of this type of insurance was not an exorbitant expenditure on a war plant worth $200,000,000.

Jap Cabinet May Drop More of Its Warlike Leaders

U. S. Headquarters Cracks
Down on Another Tokyo Newspaper

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Japanese cabinet will soon clean out more of its warlike leaders, reliable informants predicted, in keeping with the hard-fisted Allied occupation controls which temporarily shut down another Tokyo newspaper.

American headquarters meanwhile announced that a new and longer list of Japanese to be questioned on war guilt charges would be issued soon, supplementing the first list which contained forty-seven names.

Good news to American servicemen in the Pacific with sufficient discharge points came in a Pearl Harbor navy headquarters announcement that huge "Carrier Division 24" composed of the navy's biggest flattop, the Saratoga, and twenty-five escort carriers, is being formed to transport 20,000 or more men home each month.

Reliable Nipponese sources which forecast mass resignations from Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni's cabinet placed Vice Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's name at the head of the list of those to go out.

Others Are Mentioned
Others mentioned were Lt. Gen. Toshihiro Ohta and Taketora Oga, minister without portfolio.

Higashi-Kuni, who told a recent press conference that he governs intended to accuse, try and punish Japanese war criminals on his own hook if MacArthur approved, said that Shigemitsu "was foreign minister during the war, and now we are launched in building a new Japan."

American army censorship authorities clamped down on the Tokyo English language newspaper Nippon Times, forbidding it to publish this morning's edition because it had failed to submit an editorial for the censor's scrutiny.

Gen. MacArthur's press relations office said the Allied supreme commander in Japan was making no further comment on his statement about the 200,000-man occupation force.

MacArthur is the only United States Army war theater commander who has not returned to the United States since the start of the war.

MacArthur's attitude toward a trip to the United States was seen in a message to Gov. Walter S. Goodland of Goodland had asked President Truman to permit MacArthur to come to Wisconsin for an official welcome, when he does return to America.

MacArthur Has No Plans for Return
"Appreciate deeply your cordial invitation," MacArthur replied, "but have no plans for returning to the United States in the near future."

Brig. Gen. Elliott Thorpe, chief of American counterintelligence, announced that the new list of Japanese wanted for investigation concerning war guilt charges would be lengthier than the first list.

Japan's Social and Economic System To Be Revolutionized

Cruiser Pensacola Lost
17 Men at Iwo Jima

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Pensacola, the navy's oldest heavy cruiser, suffered seventeen men killed and 120 wounded in the battle for Iwo Jima, the navy reported today.

During the pre-invasion naval bombardment of the island, Japanese shore batteries scored six hits on the Pensacola and several near misses.

The vessel made temporary repairs, however, and participated in the assault against Iwo Jima before returning to Mare Island, Calif., for permanent repairs.

Labor Troubles
Of Nation's Auto
Capital Increase

DETROIT, Sept. 19 (AP)—The labor troubles of the nation's automotive capital mounted today as the United Automobile Workers (CIO) continued preparations for a head-on collision with the car industry over a thirty per cent wage increase demand.

Threatening to add to the 80,000 already idled in the area by work stoppages and shutdowns was a spreading strike in the oil industry by the Oil Workers Union (CIO) and a curtailment of electrical equipment to three divisions of General Motors Corporation.

A union spokesman said gasoline and oil would be provided city buses as well as hospitals, governmental agencies and other essential services.

William S. Bullock, general manager of Detroit's municipally-owned public transportation system, said only four days supply of gasoline remained for the city's approximately 1,400 buses in daily operation.

The oil strike began with a stoppage by truckers, later spread to workers in the Socony-Vacuum Company plant in suburban Trenton, and was reported affecting nearby refineries supplying the Detroit area. A thirty per cent wage increase demand was involved in the dispute.

Industry circles heard reports that as many as 25,000 workers in the Chevrolet, Buick and Oldsmobile divisions of General Motors might be forced into idleness this weekend by a strike at the Warren, Ohio, plant of the Packard Electrical Company. The company supplies wiring systems for the three General Motors divisions.

General Motors officials here would not comment.

The new threats to the automotive industry's reconversion efforts came as Richard T. Frankenstein, UAW vice president and candidate for mayor of Detroit at the November election, reported progress in personal efforts to get 4,500 Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Company employees back at work. The Kelsey-Hayes strike, begun August 23, precipitated the closing of the Ford plants and the laying off of 50,000 workers.

Bride of Sgt. John Agar

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 19 (AP)—Without the usual Hollywood fanfare, Actress Shirley Temple and Sgt. John Agar, of the army air force, were married tonight in a quiet, dignified ceremony in William Methodist church by Dr. Willard Martin.

There were 500 invited guests inside the church, but a crowd of 5,000 gathered outside, started assembling, in fact, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Following the brief ceremony the young couple escaped through the throng to a waiting automobile. They will spend their honeymoon on an automobile trip to an undisclosed destination.

Acting State Secretary Declares U. S. Policy Will Be Carried Out Regardless of Cost

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The State department today revealed a decision for social and economic revolution in Japan and emphasized that it would be carried out regardless of what Gen. Douglas MacArthur says about allying the American army of occupation.

In a statement that was more pugnacious than diplomatic, Acting Secretary Dean Acheson said that the United States government and not the occupation forces under Gen. MacArthur are determining American policy toward Japan.

It was the second statement that Acheson had made as a result of MacArthur's prediction that the occupation army would be cut to 200,000 in six months because the thing was working out so well inside Japan.

Acheson implied that by this statement MacArthur was somehow seeking to modify this government's Japanese policy. He said that the policy would not be changed and that it would be carried out regardless of cost. His words were: "Whatever it takes to carry this out will be used to carry it out."

Acheson was understood to speak with the support of the War department as well as the State department.

Truman Issues Statement
Today Mr. Truman issued a statement which seemed to agree with Acheson's assertion that nobody could say just now how many men would be needed for occupation. The president noted that MacArthur had given the 200,000 figure this week which was half of the size of the force he estimated only a month ago.

"No one," the president said, "now can accurately forecast what those needs are going to be."

The president said today that it should be possible by spring to determine not only the size of the occupation force but also "to what extent that need can be met through volunteers."

Mr. Truman tied in with this denial of what he called the general impression that "the speed of demobilization is governed by future needs for occupation and other forces."

Instead, he cited

Bridge Figures May Be Ready Tomorrow, Helfrich Says

Complete figures being prepared by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, concerning the city's claim for damages in connection with the explosion which wrecked the Valley Street bridge last February, will probably be ready tomorrow, according to Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said Rizer's itemizing damage assessment figures contained in a report made by Col. Henry G. Perring, Baltimore engineer hired by the city to give an estimate of repair possibilities for the bridge.

Col. Perring, who submitted his report recently to city officials, was directed after the officials met with representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company last week to discuss the bridge explosion.

Commissioner Helfrich indicated that city officials may hold a meeting with the gas company next week. The city has filed a $75,000 suit against the company and action is scheduled for the October term of court.

Atomic policies already adopted by the government would lead the country to the high level of production and distribution at which we all are aiming. About that aim there never has been any conflicts of views.

"The transcript further shows that no new government policy was announced, but that you expressed a personal view that this high level economy, with its accompanying improvement of the standard of living or the American people, can well be attained within five years."

After his call at the White House in the morning, Davis replied in the affirmative when asked by a reporter whether he had not been "condemned and convicted by some or saying something he didn't say."

Davis said further that although he had urged the taking over of the Office of Economic Stabilization by the reconversion office, as announced by the president yesterday, he had no advance knowledge that the consolidation was coming at this time.

not determine if there were really important points he had to make.

But before he made those he told reporters: "I am surprised that anybody can foresee at this time the number of forces which will be necessary in Japan."

Acheson said:

"That MacArthur had issued his reputation, army estimate without consultation with Washington."

"That American policy actually is fixed by a committee of top war-state-navy officials."

"That Acheson himself did not know whether the Japanese reduction machinery set up by MacArthur had been designed here or at the general headquarters."

LeMay, commanding the number two plane, sat quietly during the press conference. As the questioning neared an end, Gen. Carl Spaatz said that LeMay should answer some of the questions because the Twenty-first bomber command in the Marianas islands which he commanded was the "most efficiently operated air force I ever have seen."

Gen. Arnold concurred in that view, and then broke up the conference because, he said, "the boys are tired."

A gala reception here cheered the disappointed flyers. A band played as the high dignitaries greeted them. Cites said the planes held an altitude of about 20,000 feet for the most part, that it was valuable in exploration of the Great Circle route and that weather information was gathered.

Maj. Schaeffer was keenly disappointed that the flight was interrupted.

The Senate Military committee learned the marines plan to cut their discharge point score below the present seventy as soon as possible.

The navy—

Secretary Forrestal plunked before the House Naval committee for a bill to authorize a peacetime fleet powerful enough to control the sea and skies with ships, planes—and atomic bombs.

He recommended:

An active force of 402 of the newest combat vessels, 12,000 planes, 500,000 men, 100,000 marines, 678 ships held in reserve.

Elsewhere around the Capitol:

The Senate Foreign Relations committee named a subcommittee to talk with President Truman about controlling the atomic bomb.

Unanimously the Senate approved President Truman's appointment of Sen. Harold H. Burton, Ohio Republican, to the supreme court.

Evangelistic meetings in which all Cumberland sub-district Methodist churches will participate, will be held in Centre Street church on the evenings of November 4 to 11, inclusive, with Dr. Wright as the preacher. Dr. Michael, the Rev. H. A. Kester, Kingsley church, and the Rev. W. E. Holley, Frostburg, are the committee planning these meetings.

The remaining weeks of November will be given over to home visitation evangelism in the Baltimore and Hagerstown areas, in which clergymen of this section will participate, and a similar approach to the homes of the Cumberland area, with the assistance of the ministers of the Hagerstown sub-district.

Jailed for Neglect

Mrs. Margaret Seel, 25, near Meyersdale, Pa., was sentenced in Somerset county court, Somerset, Pa., to a year in jail for the neglect of her six children, resulting in the death of her 6-week-old baby, and for violating her parole on a similar charge in August, authorities said yesterday.

Donald Peterbrink, Wellersburg, Pa., with whom Mrs. Seel allegedly had been associating, was tried on charges of deserting his wife and non-support. He was ordered to leave the state by Judge Norman Boose.

Five Births Reported In Local Hospitals

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Schilling, Hyndman, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter in Allegheny hospital yesterday morning.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Darley G. Kohne, 240 North Centre street, in Allegheny hospital yesterday morning.

Lt. and Mrs. William Scott, 216 South Allegheny street, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital yesterday morning. Lt. Scott, serving with the navy in Nebraska, was scheduled to be discharged yesterday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Isner, 810 Elwood lane, in Allegheny hospital yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ferree, Juliana street, Bedford, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital last evening.

Local Man Gets Fine After Three-car Crash

Luther Glass, 18 North Lee street, Cumberland, was fined $5 and costs Monday by Magistrate O. L. Porter, Frostburg, on a charge of reckless driving on Red Hill last Thursday evening. He was involved in a three-car accident.

R. C. Warner, RFD 5, driving west on Route 40, skidded lengthwise across the slippery highway. Meyer R. Korn, 705 Gephart drive, driving east, crashed into Warner's car and Glass's vehicle hit both of them, police said.

Pays $5 Fine

Leo L. O'Neal, Route 2, Bedford road, was fined $5 in police court yesterday on a charge of careless driving. He was arrested Tuesday morning by Lt. James E. Van.

care of delinquents under 16 was a training school problem, noting that the number of boys in that age group at the house of correction last week was "only ninety-seven."

Patterson, he said, expected a decline in serious delinquency as the welfare program is extended and developed.

Final action on new construction rests with the department of public welfare and the board of public works. However, Gov. O'Connor had asked the council to study possibilities of providing additional facilities.

The council heard a special subcommittee of the Baltimore grand jury recommend shorter hours for the sale of alcoholic beverages and prohibition of Sunday sales by package goods stores in the city.

The subcommittee also recommended that unescorted women be barred from any tavern after 8 p. m. They also would be banned from being served alcoholic beverages at a bar, whether they were standing or sitting.

Jap Cabinet

The Japanese Black Dragon society may have been disbanded after Nippon's surrender, but 71-year-old Yoshida Lazuu, its chief secretary, still sits in the organization's Tokyo headquarters and receives its members as individuals, Associated Press Correspondent Al Dooking reported.

Lazuu told Dooking that the society, which had a long record of sinister and powerful influence in Japanese politics, now "has nothing to do with political things." He evaded questions about the names of prominent members of the organization.

Californian Fined $6.45 By Local Magistrate

Charged with reckless driving, Arshal Keshishian, Oakland, Calif., was fined $6.45, including costs, at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdue in trial magistrates court yesterday.

Keshishian was arrested Tuesday by Sgt. John H. Newhouse after the car he was driving collided with a machine driven by Roy Kifer, RFD 1, Flintstone, at a curve on Baltimore Pike near Lindernville.

Neither of the men was hurt in the crash. Kifer was found not guilty of a charge of reckless driving.

Police Demand Action On Parking Tickets

The Cumberland Police Department last evening mailed notices to more than twenty-five local motorists to report within the next two days to the police station to settle for parking tickets which police report have been ignored.

Warrants are being prepared for use in case the notices fail to bring prompt action, police said.

Most of the violations, the docket indicates, are for all-night parking with parking at a red curb next on the list.

Boys Face Hearing In Juvenile Court

Two local youths will be given a hearing in juvenile court Saturday on a charge of pulling a fire alarm box at the corner of Columbia and Valley streets Tuesday evening at 10:38 o'clock.

The boys, one 14 and the other 16, were arrested by Detective Edwin R. Lilla who apprehended them near their homes after he was notified by the police radio that a false alarm had been turned in.

Do You Know HOW TO SHAVE?

MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushless cream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

TO SHAVE PROPERLY, the first requirement is adequate preparation. Wash your face thoroughly with hot water and ordinary soap to remove the grit, oil and perspiration that ordinarily coats the face, and to soften the hair. Use good hot water—the time required for proper softening decreases rapidly, the hotter your water is. Then rinse the face thoroughly.

Now apply a good shaving soap (rubbing the lather in well with fingertips) or, if you prefer, a brushless cream. These preparations further emulsify the natural oil of the skin and permit the hairs to be wet more thoroughly. Allow from two to three minutes, or even longer for these simple tasks, and your shave will be quicker, easier, and more satisfactory.

AND NOW, the last requirement of a good shave—the blade you use. There are many satisfactory blades on the market, but one is quite unique and offers a great advantage over usual blades. This blade is hollow ground. Usual blades are ground like a jack-knife, like this . The hollow ground blade is . Due to hollow grinding, this blade is not held rigid by the razor guard. The slight "play" at the flexible edge permits the blade to follow facial contours effortlessly without "bearing down". And it's "bearing down" that irritates tender skins and wears out delicate blade edges prematurely.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and—learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

Home Laundry is here!

On Monday—September 17th—every one of our Bendix dealers will have a brand new Bendix automatic Home Laundry on his showroom floor.

This new Bendix is a genuine postwar product—offering fourteen major improvements—an even more astonishingly versatile and helpful appliance than its famous predecessor.

Obviously, the machines first received by our dealers must be retained for demonstrating purposes. But within the next sixty to ninety days we expect to be making deliveries to the public in substantial volume.

Women by the hundreds of thousands have looked forward to this opportunity of confirming with their own eyes, the amazing things they have heard about this greatest of labor-savers for the homemaker. Their waiting is over. Tomorrow, every Bendix dealer will extend them a hearty welcome.

Look up your nearest Bendix dealer. Go—and see for yourself. Watch how every step of the laundering process—from soiled clothes to a fresh, sweet wash, all ready for the line or dryer—is completely automatic. Note how it washes, rinses, damp-dries, cleans itself, empties—even shuts itself off—by the mere setting of a dial—and without a hand ever touching water! Learn that every good word you've heard about this washday wonder is true!

Then—make your arrangement for the delivery of your Bendix. And do it quickly.

What you do: put in clothes, set a dial, add soap.

What the BENDIX does: fills itself, tumbles clothes clean, thoroughly, tumble rinses, dries clothes ready for the line or dryer, cleans and empties itself, and shuts off—all automatically! The Bendix takes only 4 sq. ft. of floor space—fits perfectly in kitchen, bathroom, utility room, laundry.

EXCLUSIVE TUMBLE ACTION: tumbles clothes through suds 60 times a minute, yet so gently that even fine fabrics launder beautifully.

Discouraged?
Feel that life has been a shallow, futile performance?

Other men have felt that.

Once there were three fishermen—Simon and James and John. All night they had fished up and down the shore, but had caught nothing. With the morning their spirits were as empty as their nets. So they took their nets and spread them to dry and sat down, idle-handed.

And a young man came by—a young man who was wise about tides and men and the deep, secret places of the sea.

He sat down and talked in a friendly way with them, quietly observing their idle hands, their empty spirits, their drying nets. And he listened to the story of their fruitless night.

Then, very simply, but in such a way that his force ran through them in a quickening fire. Jesus said: "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a draught."

They must have stared at each other when He said that, thinking how foolish and unreasonable people could be who knew nothing about fishing. But there was something in His manner which stilled their argument. So presently Simon said, sighing a little at the hopelessness of the thing.

"Master, we have toiled all night and have taken nothing; nevertheless at Thy word I will let down the net."

So they left the shallows in which they had been wont to fish and they launched into the deep which they had avoided.

"And when they had this done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, and their net brake."

Two Good Selections by President Truman

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has done no obvious thing in appointing two Republicans in top government posts. He has succeeded in appointing two Republicans, but the country will without doubt receive selections with approbation.

Senator Harold H. Burton, of Ohio, who is to succeed Owen J. Roberts on the supreme court, and Robert P. Patterson, of New York, who is to become secretary of war, are well equipped for these highly responsible posts.

The choice of Senator Burton for the court vacancy came as somewhat of a surprise. His name had been mentioned in early speculation but of late, many had thought Patterson would get the court post and itly much had been heard about the possible appointment of Sherman Minton, of Indiana, former senator and now federal judge, which would have been a sorry mistake.

In announcing the appointments, the president disclosed that he had received the resignations of John McCloy and Robert A. Lovett as assistant secretaries of war, but said he was not accepting them immediately. Among those mentioned in connection with these posts is Louis Johnson, of Clarksburg, W. Va., former assistant secretary of war, who got into the dog house in the Roosevelt administration.

It was obviously the politic thing for President Truman to select an outstanding Republican for the court seat, but as David Lawrence points out in his column elsewhere on this page, this swerving from the Roosevelt packing policy is not the commendable feature. Recognition of the factor of quality deserves equal laudation for, as Lawrence notes, Burton is exceptionally well qualified as a sincere, open-minded and even brilliant public servant.

As for the war secretaryship, the selection of Patterson will likewise stress both main factors. It was expected that Secretary Stimson would soon retire because of his age and the burden he has borne so long and so ably. Truman's reluctance in letting him go is undoubtedly sincere and the president rightly desired Stimson as "one of our great public servants," as he has achieved an unusual record in cabinet service.

Ohio Political Setup Faces Some Changes

THE APPOINTMENT of Senator Burton, of Ohio, to the federal supreme bench has naturally caused a few things politically in that state. It means a realignment on both sides of the fence. As for the Republican side, the appointment will undoubtedly benefit the presidential ambitions of former Governor John W. Bricker, the party vice-presidential nominee in 1944. On the other side, it means a Democratic senator for the time being.

Bricker has been seeking a means of keeping himself before the public until the Republican national convention in 1948. The principal vehicles were the United States senatorship and the governorship.

For obvious reasons, he was not eager to tackle Burton in a campaign for the party nomination for senator next year, and he was not likely to seek a fourth term for governor unless he felt certain he could win.

But with Burton no longer senator, Bricker could try for that nomination without worrying about stirring up any bitter intra-party fight. His opposition to the Cleveland likely would have precipitated. But a good scrap among Republicans who want to be governor is not unlikely. They have been holding their horses waiting to see what Bricker would do. Among these potential candidates are Maj. Gen. Robert S. Taft, former senator; William M. Herbert, former lieutenant governor; Thomas J. Healey, former attorney general; and H. H. Bright, state treasurer.

As for the Democrats, the authority to appoint Burton's successor lies in their leader, Governor Frank Lausche, who has made it known that nine Democrats have been mentioned as possible successors. These include four former governors, namely James M. Cox, Vic Donahey, George White and Martin J. Davey; and William G. Pickrel, of Dayton, the Democratic nominee who was defeated last year by Senator Robert A. Taft; James W. Huffman, state director; Robert M. Schenck, state liquor director; and Robert L. Moulton, of Galion, Democratic floor leader in the Ohio House of Representatives.

The fact that Governor Lausche so promptly made note of the nine Democrats who are considered possibilities for appointment as successor to Burton indicates little doubt that he will follow precedent and select a party member for the Senate seat.

MacArthur's Action Hits Demobilization

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR tossed an atomic bomb into the ranks of the Washington and New York totalitarians with his statement that the months hence only 100,000 American soldiers will be required for the occupation of Japan. Obviously, if that is the case, the army's rate of demobilization of draftees is proceeding much too slowly and a cut in drafting of men, now proceeding at the rate of 50,000 a month, may be possible.

Since the end of the war Congress has commendably cast a critical eye on army plans. While the fighting was going on, the brass hats in Washington had to be given more or less of a free rein. But the situation has changed with the return to peace. Congress has both a right and a duty to exert a closer control over the military program and army leaders have a graver responsibility to explain and justify their plans.

Many legislators are frankly skeptical about the army's demobilization plans. They believe that the army could get men out of uniform and back to civilian life more speedily and more efficiently than it is doing.

There is no doubt that there is justice to these complaints. In the natural course of events some men are bound to get stranded somewhere along the line. But it is the overall policy to which congressmen, and voters, object. They are suspicious that the generals are still holding on to a forlorn hope that perhaps, in some manner, they can slip peacetime military conscription over the country.

Gen. MacArthur, always the American, has served a good purpose in promptly announcing what his manpower requirements in Japan will be. His statement has had the effect of cutting ground from under the totalitarians on the home front.

Rattlesnake Religion

AMERICANS who have read with objective interest about the strange religious rites of certain strange tribes of the earth, rites that involve animal worship and human sadism—now may contemplate with some concern the outcropping of the same kind of fanaticism in this country.

The other day the faithful few of the Dolly Pond Church of God, near Chattanooga, Tenn.,—not far from the scene of the Scopes evolution trial of two decades ago—surrounded by a crowd of the curious, buried Brother Lewis Ford, a lay preacher, as he had wished—fondling and exhibiting over his open casket the rattlesnake that killed him.

Mr. Ford had been struck in the hand at a "religious" service and died an hour later. At his funeral service the members of his bereaved family were "moved by the Lord" to snatch from boxes a dozen rattlesnakes and, as "Brother Lewis wanted," Mrs. Ford stood by the coffin, clutching the snakes as they were given her. The "Rev." Raymond Hayes told the crowd that he was bitten on the ankle during the service but that the bite meant nothing because of "the power of my belief."

Sheriff's deputies were present to keep the crowd back of the roped-off area.

This sort of thing has been going on for some time in Tennessee rural communities. Efforts to stamp it out have raised the cry of persecution, because those who engage in these shenanigans call the result religion. But it requires an impossible stretch of the imagination to call it that.

Still Another Merger With Doubtful Result

SWITCHING AGENCIES when things got hot and out of hand was a favorite resort of President Roosevelt. As a rule it served only to abate public clamor for the time being and failed to achieve its professed objective as it was merely a case of calling a thing by another name. Whether the merger of three labor agencies into one by President Truman and shifting them into the Labor department will prove advantageous remains to be seen. These agencies are the War Labor Board, the War Manpower Commission and the United States Employment Service. There seem to be still too many divisions for the achievement of essential unification, just as there were too many in the first place.

Secretary Schweinfach still has a major task in his lap in the solution of the industrial disputes arising over the nation and causing conversion to be disrupted in its critical initial period. He seems discouraged over the fact that the president's order has supplied him with more powers to cope with industrial strife. But these powers will naturally depend upon the national laws under which they must operate, and it is there that the big flaws exist in the management-labor pattern.

However, all will hope that the new secretary will be enabled to work out something from the muddled economic chaos into which the country has quite naturally gravitated as a result of wrongful policies so long pursued.

THE REAL INTERPRETERS

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

The real interpreters of the laws, of justice, and of the rights of government are the people—the masses who carry on the work of the world, and who pay taxes and fight the wars. Their viewpoint is the one that matters most of all in the shaping of a nation's life.

National growth and vitality come from the roots of a nation, which are its common folk. They give it its life and its substance. That's why, in a free democracy, there is so much incentive to do, and to create. From this free association of people come the Legislators, the Governors, the Judges in the courts, and indeed the highest ruler of all, the Premier or President.

It's the folks back home who do the serious thinking and to whom all in high authority should look for an interpretation of the way ahead. After all, laws are made for the many, so naturally the many should be consulted, and their views obtained.

It is amazing how fast ordinary common sense spreads itself when it once gets a little roilage here and there. And that is what the everyday people thrive on. How often the obvious thing to do is no more than the natural, common sense thing, that most people pass as unimportant. The most profound truths are often the simplest.

The people are always thinking, though they are not always expressing themselves. That explains so many upsets at the polls, where free elections are held. High office, as President Cleveland once said, "is a public trust." It's a trust from the people, so therefore should be administered in their total behalf.

Political bosses interpret nothing but their selfish aims. They do not serve the people. Any more than does a dictator. There is deception at both ends. The humblest citizen should take some active part in his government, for if he isn't concerned about it, you may be sure that the "bosses" will be, and not to his interest. The more the interest on the part of the people in their government, the better government they are sure to have.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Retiring Navy Personnel Chief Discloses Policy for Keeping Young Men in Service

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Tip-off on the navy's original discharge intention was dropped accidentally by retiring Chief of Personnel Adm. Randall Jacobs.

A smart young reporter for the "Washington Star," Miriam Ottenberg, asked Navy Press Relations for an interview with Jacobs. She was told she could have one if he had no objections. Navy Press Relations promptly phoned Jacobs' office that the interview was not to be given, but somehow this message went haywire.

Miss Ottenberg got the interview. It was a pip. The admiral really expanded. Among other things, he dropped this nugget of truth regarding the navy's discharge system: "We want the young men in the navy. That's why age was included. The younger ones are the ones the navy of the future has to be built around."

This is the tip-off to the fact that a young man can have been in the navy four long years—since before Pearl Harbor—and if he isn't married, he still may not be able to get out.

Admiral King Forgot

Since then, Adm. Jacobs has been relieved as chief of personnel, not because of this, but because he had finished his tour of duty. Commander of the Fleet Adm. Ernest King balked like a steer at having him go, however, and submitted a three-page memo to Secretary Forrestal giving reasons why Adm. Lou Denfeld, assistant to Jacobs, was not the man to take his place. Forrestal called Denfeld in, showed him the memo.

"What have you got to say about that?" Forrestal asked with a grin. "Nothing," replied Adm. Denfeld. Whereupon Forrestal immediately appointed Denfeld chief of the Bureau of Personnel. This, incidentally, is not the first time Forrestal has overridden Adm. King recently.

Adm. Denfeld, however, will have a hard time changing the Navy's discharge system materially as long as Adm. King's and other Annapolis policies prevail.

Inside fact is that the Japanese surrender caught Adm. King with four different discharge plans in his desk. He had done nothing about

LOOKING TO FUTURE

RALPH LUCAS, chief engineer of the United States Industrial and Development Company, believes the same type of power that battered Japan into capitulation will soon be used to power locomotives. He has designed an atomic locomotive for the N.Y. Central. It will be powered with a mercury turbine employing a formula for the disintegration of mercury and steel atoms. "One catapult of mercury atoms exploded," he says, "would run a locomotive pulling 120 loaded freight cars for forty-five round trips between New York and San Francisco."

any of them. One plan would not have discharged any man from the navy until six months after V-J day.

It was rejected by Secretary Forrestal as completely inadequate.

In King's much-ballyhooed second report, "United States Navy at War," he went on record very clearly regarding discharges.

"For more than a year," he said on page 44, "we have worked on demobilization methods and have completed tentative plans. We are considering priority for severance and intend when the time comes to give due consideration to length of service, service outside the continental limits, combat service and parenthood."

That report was dated March 27, 1945, but apparently King forgot all about it. For demobilization plans were still a jumble of indecision on V-J day. However, the men who fought in the Pacific have not forgotten it, and many of them are blazing mad that his promises, especially regarding combat service and parenthood, have not been kept.

Big Peacetime Navy

While the navy's original discharge system has now been modified to give one fourth of a point per month for sea duty, thousands of men still considered inadequate, still feel it is designed to force men to remain in a big peacetime navy.

They also point out that the revised plan still has plenty of jokers. For instance, a commander can keep any man for 120 days if he says he needs him, so that six months can easily pass by the time he gets through the separation center. Also combat men generally are aged 17 to 28. And they get no credit for the grueling punishment they took off Iwo Jima or Okinawa. These are the young men Adm. Jacobs accidentally admitted the admirals wanted kept in the navy—apparently regardless of length of combat duty. His excuse for not giving combat credit was that the records were lost.

How the system works was illustrated the other day on a certain battleship, now on the West coast. The navy recently issued an "ALL PAC" (All Pacific) directive authorizing all ships to reduce their complement by ten per cent. This was to give shore duty to deserving personnel who had served a long tour of duty on board and were close to discharge.

But the order did not have that effect. The majority of those transferred were not men who had been overseas, but those who had not been attached to the ship long enough to become "necessary" to its operation. Two of the officers had been on board less than three months, but had accumulated points as a result of college training and recent marriage. They had never been in combat zone on any ship, yet they are receiving discharges ahead of men who made the mistake of becoming "valuable" to the navy and showing interest and efficiency in carrying out their duties.

Thus the very men who should have been kept on board and trained to relieve experienced officers, left the ship.

Note—Navy men say that if the brass hats had taken the time and trouble to accompany their demobilization plans with a frank public explanation of the problem, there would have been less hard feeling. Instead the brass hats seem to do things backwards. For instance, the latest ALNAV order about wearing civilian clothes on the beach met with great rejoicing, but was cancelled a few days later when the brass hats had thought out the problem and realized the consequent drain on civilian clothing.

Capital Chaff

A vest-pocket edition of the "Constitution of the Soviet Russian States" is being carried around by ultra conservative Senator Bob Taft, of Ohio, who quotes from the Russians every chance he gets. The walters in the Senate restaurant are wearing badges marked USSR, which stand both for "United States Senate Restaurant" and

"Union of Soviet Socialist Republics." Senator Homer Ferguson, of Michigan, received a letter from a young sailor last week which concluded, "I will be watching from now on to see if you work as hard to get me out of the navy as the navy does to keep me in."

Ferguson replied: "Although I'll do what I can to help you, you should know that no one man has the energy to put into getting you out of the navy that the navy will spend in trying to keep you in."

Representative Bill Stevenson, of Wisconsin, has offered a bill providing $500,000,000 for federally sponsored research on cancer and polio. United States occupation authorities in Germany are organizing a group of technicians to study German attitudes and political trends. Head of the group will be Professor Richard Crutcheff, of Swarthmore college. British Broadcasting Corporation monitors were puzzled last Friday when, during Moscow's regular noon broadcast to Japan, the Russians suddenly began broadcasting in Korean. A few minutes later, OWI in Washington received on its teletype a request for aid from its London office, which reported that BBC is anxiously awaiting word from the United States monitor in Portland, Ore., regarding the "unrecognizable language" Moscow was using. The British were anxious to know what the Russians were saying. United States monitors recognized the language as Korean, but reception was bad at Portland and they couldn't understand it.

Consumer Interest Is Declared Vital In Labor Situation

By MARK SULLIVAN

Whatever is done about the strikes and threatened strikes in the automobile industry, whatever is done about any strikes or any phase of labor relations, the set-up of parties in interest is the same. It is the same in the over-all labor-management conference called by President Truman to take place in October.

In all these conferences and negotiations are three parties—labor, management and government. The impacts of the three upon each other, the relative force with which they urge their points of view, will determine what comes out. The three points of view are apparent. Labor has a single, simple point of view. It is higher wages. For that labor will single-mindedly contend. The labor leaders in the conferences know that success in their careers is measured by one standard, higher wages for the workers they represent. Some of them may have broad understanding of the effect of wage increases on the country's economic structure, but wage increases are their direct bread and butter. In a legitimate sense, the labor leaders are trustees for their group. Labor is their client, and they will strive for what will please labor.

Not As Single-Minded

Management has one point of view. It is to resist wage increases. But management will not be as single-minded as labor. The force of management resistance will be modified by a second point of view. Management wants to get busy. Management knows that there is an enormous demand for goods, that to pay for the goods there is an enormous quantity of money in people's pockets and bank accounts, and that, because money is so abundant, buyers are not greatly concerned about price. In this condition, some of management may be under temptation to grant the wage increases, add the increases to the price of goods, and get on with meeting the enormous dammed-up demand. Besides, management's power to resist pressure for wage increases has been greatly diminished by the advantages given to labor by legislation during the past twelve years.

Government has been prevailing favorably to wage increases. During several weeks past, and up to the hour of this writing, actions and utterances of some administration officials have taken this line. In some instances they have said that wage increases should be limited to cases in which wages could be increased without an increase in the cost of goods. But whether many wage increases can be made without increasing the cost of goods is very problematic. After a rather extreme attitude favorable to a policy of wage increases had been taken by one official, President Truman said the official did not speak for the administration.

Consumer Absent

At the conferences, one group will be absent, the consumer. There will be no one specifically representing the consumer, no one fighting to prevent increased wage rates and increased cost of living as single-mindedly and resolutely as the representatives of labor will fight for wage increases. The consumer is not organized, as labor is and management is. The consumer has no CIO Political Action Committee, no Philip Murray, nor William H. Green, nor John L. Lewis, no National Association of Manufacturers nor chamber of commerce.

If the consumer were organized, he would have a powerful voice in these conferences, and in politics, for there are a lot of him. The consumer and his interest can be symbolized by one immense group, the owners of War bonds—there are some eighty million of them. When one of these paid $75 for a bond in 1942, he could, with the same money, have hired for a hundred hours a plumber, or at least a plumber's assistant, then getting say seventy-five cents an hour. If that seventy-five-cent wage rate is now raised to $1, the owner of the war bond, when he cashes it in, can hire that same plumber for only seventy-five hours.

To avoid such a possible change in the purchasing power of War bonds is an objective the administration should take into account.

Burton Is Viewed As Well Qualified For Court Post

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Appointment of Senator Burton, of Ohio, to the Supreme Court of the United States by President Truman is significant not just because he is a Republican and there is a desirable effort to restore a bi-partisan appearance on the highest court. It is significant mainly because the President has chosen someone of judicial temperament, someone who is not motivated by causes and class consciousness, someone who really will make an impartial justice and who can be labelled as neither conservative nor liberal but simply honest-minded.

The supreme court is the most important institution created by the constitution because the rights of the individual, the rights of the states, the rights of the federal government are all construed by the supreme court. There is a slogan on the Supreme Court building which reads "Equal Justice under Law." Likewise the oath of a member of the supreme court requires that he dispense justice "to rich and poor alike."

Oath Forgotten by Some

Some justices who have come to the highest court forget that the oath makes any such requirement and they assume either that they represent the rich when they safeguard property rights or that they must attack the rich and deprive them of their lawful rights in order to benefit the poor.

Other justices go to the supreme court with preconceived notions of what their duty is, and they have often indicated that they think they must rewrite the laws of Congress. One justice in recent years went so far as to say that when Congress wrote "reinstated," it really meant "instated" and that a new worker who has never been an employee must be given a job whereas Congress wrote that an employee who lost his job must be "reinstated" under certain circumstances in which discrimination had been practiced against union members.

Pet Theory Vehicle

There have been justices who have conceived the supreme court to be a place where their pet theories of what the American system of government should be could be put into operation. Thus, America does not have a system of administrative law such as Britain has but some supreme court decisions have from time to time denied court review and have made binding the decisions of administrative agencies. In Britain there is redress against the party in power by the people who insist on justice by administrative agencies or oversight body, the party in power responsible. In America there is no such opportunity, so the only recourse is to the courts, the doors of which have often been closed by the supreme court when an administrative tribunal issues final judgment.

There are thus many ways by which conservative or liberal, crusader or class champion, can use his position as a member of the supreme court to affect fundamental courses of action by the people and the states. Hence when any president makes an appointment to the supreme court, it is one of the most important steps he can take to maintain an equilibrium in the body politic. The feeling that the supreme court will be fair has caused many a litigant to resort to the courts rather than more drastic forms of warfare. For a long time labor union spokesmen felt that the supreme court wasn't fair to them. Now the situation is reversed. Employers feel the supreme court isn't fair and decides cases on more of a political and class basis.

Gas Fumes Released
By Suicide Explode

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19. (AP)—
A pilot light on a gas refrigerator ignited fumes escaping from a stove and blew out the side of a house while a jilted suitor was committing suicide by gas. Detective
George Marker said today.

Charles G. Littleton, 28, was found dead on the floor of his two-room apartment by Marker, who was called to investigate the blast last night. The detective said an autopsy will be made to determine whether death was caused by gas or the explosion.

Marker said Littleton's girl friend had broken off their engagement a short time before.

Americans Try

surrenders is an escape device which has been resorted to with military thoroughness.

This false rationalization is almost certainly partly responsible for many Japanese atrocities in handling the prisoners they take themselves. They list their own soldier as disgraced, "dead" if he surrenders, and knowing nothing else, naturally assume his enemy operates on the same principle.

American officers who made test interviews with Japanese parents who had thought their sons dead found that these Japanese families seemed to be overjoyed to hear that the boys were alive and would come back. They may be an indication of how quickly the Japanese people can forget the artificial military thinking which has been forced upon them.

But in any case it is a most useful entering wedge to get across the important idea that the Japanese nation was defeated and did not stop fighting purely because of the graciousness of Hirohito.

An important element in the American argument is that these Japanese prisoners are the same as all Japanese, every one of which technically surrendered. Returning prisoners can be valuable assets in spreading the word around that the war was lost, not given away.

The Japanese press has said nothing since the surrender about

Japanese captives, thus leaving the inference that Japanese editors, at least, still do not consider prisoners worth mentioning.

Pfc. W. A. Hersh To Wed Miss Virginia Lee Miller

Wedding Ceremony To Be Event of the Early Fall

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Miller, 307 Baltimore street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Lee Miller, to Pfc. William A. Hersh, son of Mrs. Martha Hersh, 605 Greene street.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, class of 1939, where she was a member of the capella choir, the Glee club, the Theatricals and the Sextet. She also was graduated from Catherman's Business school and is employed as a teletype operator at the local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Pfc. Hersh is home on a thirty-day furlough after serving twenty-seven months in the European theater of operations with the Eighth air force, the Ninth air force and the Twelfth air force. A graduate of Allegany high school, he was employed by the Celanese Corporation of America prior to his induction into the service in the spring of 1943.

The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

Allegany Graduates Will Receive Diplomas Tonight

Diplomas will be presented to fourteen graduates of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing by the Rev. Father Dressman, O.F.M. Cap Alverno, Pa., at the commencement exercises at 7:30 o'clock this evening in St. Patrick's church. The Rev. Henry Grabenstein, Baltimore, will give the address and the graduate nurses will form a guard of honor.

Activities today will begin with a mass at 8 o'clock in the hospital chapel, read by the Rev. William Kelly, Washington, D. C., who will also deliver the baccalaureate sermon. It will be followed by a breakfast.

The Alumnae Association entertained with a banquet Tuesday evening at All Ghan Shrine Country Club, with sixty-four guests present. Multi-colored asters and red and blue candles decorated the table. Miss Alta Earl welcomed the group and Miss Anna Murphy served as toastmaster, introducing each graduate and telling of humorous incidents during her training. Miss Doris Corrigan, president of the graduating class, responded and thanked the group for the party, also expressing the hope graduates will join the association.

Lt. (j. g.) Lucille Nasser, Cape May, N. J., navy nurse corps, and First Lt. Mary Margaret Lee, army nursing corps, were guests. A floor show was presented by the pupils of the Steckman Dance Studio, consisting of songs and dancing.

The senior class entertained with a dinner Monday evening and the intermediate class with a dance last evening following a comedy presented under the direction of Leo H. Ley, Sr., and Elmer J. Soehner.

Engineering Club Hears about GI Bill

Harold Fletcher, cashier of the Peoples Bank, was the guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Engineering Club of Cumberland last evening at All Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Speaking on the "GI Bill of Rights and Replacement of Servicemen in Industry," Mr. Fletcher spoke on the guarantee of veterans' loans for purchasing farms, homes and businesses and explained the method by which the veteran is investigated. The loan is put through proper channels, he added.

Joseph Duckworth presided and William Stearn introduced the speaker. A social hour concluded the evening.

To Enter Western Maryland College

Miss Wilma Lee Steele

Inseparable friends at Allegany high school, Miss Wilma Lee Steele and Miss Margaret Ann Ruppenthal will go on to college together. They plan to leave Tuesday for Western Maryland college, Westminster, where the former will major in high school English and the latter in business administration. Miss Steele, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. David M. Steele, Prospect square, was active in extra curricular activities, being on the staff of the Alcohol Mirror and the Allegany, a member of the orchestra, the History, Spanish, Choral and Hi-Y clubs, and a twirler in the band. She was also active in 4-H club work, the president of a Sunday school class at First Presbyterian church, and former president of the Westminster Fellowship. She is also a teacher in the Sunday school. Miss Ruppenthal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Ruppenthal, LaVale, was active in sports at Allegany and a member of the basketball team, the Hi-Y, the band and the staff of the Alcohol Mirror. She is also a member of Centre Street Methodist church.

Emmanuel Guild Board Meets with Miss Lowndes

St. Mary's Music Club Elects Velma Grassi Head

St. Mary's Music Club elected officers for the coming year at the first meeting of the school year yesterday. Plans for the year were also formulated.

Velma Grassi was elected president; John Clancy, vice president; Ann Catherine Davis, secretary, and Francis Murphy, treasurer.

The group decided to hold another music scrapbook contest this year, continue the study of Italian musical terms, hold meetings the third Wednesday of each month and invite parents to attend.

Discussions of musical composers will feature each meeting and Eileen Carey was chosen to present a paper on "World of Music" at the October meeting.

Officers Will Be Installed at General Meeting October 9

Miss Elizabeth L. Lowndes, president of Emmanuel Episcopal Guild, held her first meeting since the summer recess with the officers and executive board yesterday afternoon in the parish house. She named chairmen and circle leaders for the ensuing year.

Her staff includes Mrs. John Bestwick, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Sheekles, second vice president; Mrs. John Wellington, secretary; Mrs. Cyril M. Croft, treasurer. The secretaries are Mrs. Walter H. Hindle, Supplies, with Mrs. John W. Carscaden, co-chairman; Mrs. Fred T. Small, Periodicals; Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Visits; Mrs. A. W. Keight, Ways and Means; Mrs. T. M. Andrews, Educational; Mrs. Dudley Brown, Choir Chapter; Mrs. Chester Wolfe, Altar Ward; Mrs. Malcolm Livingston, United Thank Offering.

Circle leaders include Mrs. Bestwick, Mrs. J. Thurston Boyd, Mrs. J. M. Plukethley, Mrs. Carscaden and Miss Edwena Kraus. The other two leaders will be named before the first general meeting which will be held October 9 in Emmanuel church, at which time officers will be installed.

Plans for the year's program were discussed and routine business was transacted.

Prizes as first prizes while red ribbons will go to the winners of second prizes. Anyone desiring to exhibit articles at the fair, should bring or send them to the school today or tomorrow.

Following the exhibit parents and patrons will participate in a series of games; refreshments will be served. There will be a special event for all persons who join the P-TA the night of the fair.

Penn Avenue P-TA To Sponsor Fair

The Pennsylvania Avenue Parent-Teacher Association will hold a get-acquainted party and fair in the school auditorium tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend.

At the fair will be displayed fresh and canned fruits and vegetables, jellies, preserves, cut flowers, potted plants, all types of handwork, including crocheting, knitting, embroidery and quilting. Unusual pets and interesting hobby collections will also be shown.

The judges will award blue rib-

Velma Yoder To Become Bride of C. M. Miller

Ceremony Will Be Performed Today by the Rev. Mr. Baughman

Miss Velma Rose Yoder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Yoder, McMullen highway, will become the bride of Conrad M. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas A. Miller, Jerome, Va., today.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the parsonage of First Methodist church, this city, with the Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor, officiating.

Miss Ruth Mahwinny, a classmate of the bride-elect at Allegany high school, will be the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. John Yoder, Potomac State school, brother of the bride, will serve as Mr. Miller's best man. The ceremony will be attended by members of the immediate families.

The bride will be attired in a fuchsia colored tissue wool dress with which she will wear black accessories. A corsage of gardenias will complete her costume.

Her maid of honor will wear a gray wool suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Yoder has chosen a lime green suit for her daughter's wedding with which she will wear black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Miss Yoder is a graduate of Allegany high school where she was a member of the Choral club and the president; Holmes H. Cessna, vice president; and Martin L. Johnson was re-elected secretary-treasurer. They will be installed at a dinner meeting October 24 at All Ghan Shrine Country Club. The retiring officers, Hugh Funkhouser, president; Mr. Charles, vice president, and Mr. Johnson will officiate.

Ladies night will be held in the form of a dinner party October 11 at All Ghan Shrine Country Club. It will be followed by a business session and informal card party.

Mixed chorus. She is employed at her father's store in Pinto.

Mr. Miller, a veteran of three years' service in the army served as a technician fifth grade with the Four Hundred Twenty-eighth Engineers in the Aleutians for two years. He received his honorable discharge in November, 1944, and is now employed at the Celanese Corporation of America. A graduate of Mt. Jackson high school, Jerome, he also attended Catherman's Business school.

Mr. and Mrs. Yoder will entertain with an informal wedding dinner in honor of their daughter and her bridal party at the New Century hotel, Romney, following the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake, adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom will center the table, which will be decorated with white flowers and candles.

Upon their return from a trip through Virginia, Mr. Miller and his bride will be at home to their friends at the Yoder apartments, McMullen highway, after October 1.

Kopp, Miss Adams To Address Group of Principals

The Elementary Principals Association will have Charles L. Kopp and Miss Ruby Adams as guest speakers at its first meeting of the school year Monday evening. A dinner at 6:30 o'clock at Colonial inn, Route 40, will precede the business session. Miss Lula M. Blonsky will preside and introduce Mr. Kopp, superintendent of schools of Allegany county, and Miss Adams, supervisor and director of elementary education for the county.

A program of entertainment has also been arranged by the committee which includes Earl Brain, Miss Imogene Caudill, Miss Beonice Winder and John Manley.

Life Offers More Than Day-Dreams, Miss Fairfax Says

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax: I'm 19 years old. My husband is 21. We've been married almost three years but we never get along, and are always quarreling.

A young man I've known since school-days and to whom I was engaged before I married, has just returned from overseas and he wants me to divorce my husband and marry him. He says he's been waiting for me these few years. My husband has been mean to me and says he will never be mean again, but I don't believe he'll keep his promise. He too has spent two years overseas. I know both these men are in love with me, but I can't make up my mind which one I want. I am not in love with my husband, but have a certain feeling for him which will in time make me hate him. I think we should part before that happens. The "other man" is seven years older. Do you think I can find happiness with an older man?

J. J.

You'll probably hate me for handling out a few unpalatable truths. Married at sixteen and before that engaged to the man who is now asking you to divorce your husband! He says he's been waiting for you these past few years. Lots of soldiers talk that way for fun. How

Law Office of PAUL M. FLETCHER
111 Union Street, Cumberland, Md.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Wm. Stewart Rodgers, Plaintiff vs. Frank M. Kinney, alias Richard Leroy Rodgers, Defendant.

No. 1858 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree annulling the marriage between the plaintiff and the defendant.

The bill of complaint states that the parties were married on the 13th day of April, 1941, in Allegany County, Maryland, and resided in the City of Butler, Pennsylvania, until on or about the first day of June, 1941, and that no children were born of said union, when the plaintiff discovered that the defendant had been previously married on the 11th day of December, 1938, and that no divorce had been obtained by either party to the first marriage; that the plaintiff has not lived or cohabited with the said defendant since her discovery of his previous marriage aforesaid. The bill prays that the said marriage shall be annulled by this Honorable Court and a decree passed as aforesaid. The defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland and his present address is unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon ordered this 12th day of September, 1945, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 14th day of October, 1945, give notice to the said non-resident defendant of the object of this suit, warning him to appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 27th day of October, 1945, to show cause, if any he may have why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

ROBERT JACKSON, Clerk.

True Copy, Test: ROBERT JACKSON, Clerk.

—Advertisement— N-Sept 13-20-27 Oct 4

do you know, if you divorce your husband, he'd really want to marry you?

Besides, there is such a thing as having some obligation to the promises you made in marriage. Why not try to make a go of your marriage, as you say your husband still loves you? If you were to have a baby, I believe you'd be happier. It would cure you of the belief that life is one long, continual romance. Give your husband another chance.

Friends Make Her Unhappy

Dear Miss Fairfax: I'm 20 years old and met a soldier of 35 who was at a nearby camp and came to see me whenever he had a weekend pass. It seemed we were made for each other.

Not long ago he was shipped to another place, but told me before he left he would never stop loving me and that when he returned we would be married. He was always good to my mother and very kind to the rest of the family. Now my friends tell me I'm foolish to think he'll come back to me. If he doesn't it will be the first lie he ever told me, and I'm so worried about it.

What do you think I should do?

UNHAPPY

You tell me your boy friend was shipped to another base not long ago—have you given him time to write? Unless he has been sent overseas, he'll write to you if he really cares. And why take the gossip of friends seriously? One of the surest ways to send a love affair on the rocks is to listen to what everyone has to say about it.

"To Young" To Go "Steady"

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a boy 17 years old and my girl friend is 15. She seems to be in love with me, and I'm very much in love with her, but I don't show it. I tell her she's too young to go "steady", but she says she knows what she's doing and that I am the boy she likes. Her parents are very strict, and the only time I see her is when she comes to my cousin's house.

Can a girl that age really fall in love? She wants to go "steady" but I don't feel right about it. We don't go to the same school, and I've known her only seven months. Please tell me what you think about us.

J. A. V. B.

I think you're very sensible to tell the girl she's too young to go "steady" at 15. And while we have the classic example of Juliet, thing are vastly different in a world just recovering from the worst war in history. Boys and girls may have very pleasant friendships at your age, but I think it's a mistake to make it a closed corporation of two

Marion B. Barr, Resident of Rig, Dies at His Home

Native of Winchester, Va., Organized Barr Band Years Ago

By MRS. R. E. FISHER
MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 19.—Marion Beauregard Barr, 84, died at his home near Rig, September 14. Funeral services were held Sunday from his late home with the Rev. Charles Kernan of Moorefield Presbyterian church officiating. Interment was in the Newhouse cemetery. Pallbearers were Earl, Robert and Harold Barr and E. S. Bennie and Paul Evans. Flower girls were Faye and Ramona Barr, Eleanor and Mary Rigglesman, Isabelle Robinson and Janie Hardy.

Mr. Barr was born in Winchester, June 16, 1861, the son of Capt. Hugh Barr and Martha Samsell Barr. After the war between the states, Capt. Barr returned to Moorefield and operated a shoe repair shop until 1885, when he retired to the mountain farm he bought in Frosty Hollow. Capt. Barr had accumulated a collection of band instruments and his son Beauregard had received instruction from Prof. Nihiser and later played in bands in Moorefield, Piedmont and Missouri. He undertook to train his brothers and formed what became known through this section as the Barr band. For about thirty years the band appeared at every social gathering in the valley and no political rally was complete without it.

Mr. Barr is survived by his widow, the former Chetta Elizabeth Evans, five sons, Ruby, Richard, Victor, Walter, all of Rig, and Ed and Earl, Dorcas, six daughters, Mrs. Phil Rigglesman, Mrs. Ed Hiser, Edgely, Mrs. Paul Robinson, Rada; Mrs. Charlie Cook, Keyser; Mrs. Warren Cowger and Mrs. Ottie Harv. Petersburg. There are fifty-one grandchildren and twenty-nine great-grandchildren. Five brothers and a sister also survive. Mrs. Myrtle Schaffer, Keyser; George, Burns, John Barr, all of Rig; Fred Barr, Grant county, and Richard Barr, Ansley, Miss.

Harold Walters and Miriam Moore Are Married at Hucknall, England

Bridegroom Is Son of Rotarians Meet Charles W. Walters, Lonaconing

At Grantsville

By MARIE MERRBACH
LONACONING, Sept. 19.—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Miriam Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Moore, 9 Edmond Grove, Hucknall, England, to Pfc. Harold F. Walters, 24 Church street, Lonaconing.

The wedding was solemnized Thursday, August 2, 1945, in Hucknall Parish church. They went on a honeymoon trip to Norwich.

In an account of their wedding that appeared in an English newspaper it stated that the bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Moore, of Mill Yard, who belongs to the old Hucknall family of Scrimshaw, who in the olden days were the only local people who made pyramids and distilleries.

In a letter recently received from Walters, he advises his father that he may be back home by the last part of this month or next month, but that he will be unable to bring his wife over before March or April of next year.

Pfc. Walters has served at the Two hundred and thirty-first station hospital in England. His father is superintendent of the General Textile Mill, Lonaconing.

Infant Girl Dies
Barbara Ann Blubaugh, who was 1 year old September 2, died today at 9:15 a. m. at the home of her parents, Irvin and Mary Jane Reid Blubaugh, in Gilmore.

The child was ill eight weeks. Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Sarah Jane Blubaugh, 2 1/2 years. She was born in Hodgson clinic.

The body will be taken to the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid, Midland, where funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. Raymond Crowe, pastor of Grace Methodist church, Midland, will officiate at the services.

Personal
Sgt. James Highbaugh arrived home September 6 to spend thirty days with his wife and daughter. He returned from the ETO.

John Smith, 49 Church street, arrived home this morning to spend thirty days' leave after serving in Guam with the Seabees. While stationed there he met several boys from here, among them, Bobby Woods, James Mason and Cornelius Dye.

Lonaconing Lions Club held Ladies night at Layman's Tuesday night. The speaker was H. F. Hinz, a veteran of Company G, Cumberland, who told of his experiences in the war. He was overseas three years in England, Holland, France, Belgium and Germany. He took part in the D-day invasion on the French coast. His rating was first sergeant. He now operates an upholstery store in Cumberland. The next meeting of the Lions club will be October 1.

Burns and Allen Return to Radio Network Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Burns and Allen go back on the air Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Not only are they returning from vacation, but they also are returning to the network over which they have performed from time to time. Their last series, ending in June, was on CBS.

In addition Bill Goodwin gets back on the program after being away from the show for other things since last winter. Still another comeback is Meredith Willson as musical director after three years with the armed forces radio service.

America's Town Meeting, broadcasting again from New York on ABC at 8:30 after a brief summer tour, will look into "Who Should Control the Atomic Bomb?" It will seek answers from Sen. Owen Brewster, of

Maine; Commentators Raymond Swing and E. R. Murrow, and Hans

Paper Workers Voted To Return To Their Jobs At Luke Plant

Sayre Says Employees Accepted Four-cent Hourly Pay Increase; AFL Campaign Continues

Members of Local 676, Paper Workers Organizing Committee, CIO, voted unanimously yesterday afternoon to return to work and thus end the strike which closed the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company at midnight September 6.

Harry Sayre, Cleveland, international PWOC secretary-treasurer, who announced the return-to-work decision, reported the workers also voted to accept a four-cent hourly wage increase offered by the company.

The international PWOC official said that from 500 to 600 members of the union attended the meeting held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Piedmont, W. Va., Opera house.

Was Third Meeting
Two previous mass meetings of the local representing the 1450 hourly-rated employees of the paper plant resulted in decisions to continue the strike which union officials declared was called by the union as a result of a "number of grievances and circumstances."

Sayre explained that the company and the negotiating committee representing locals at Luke, Williamsburg, Pa., and Covington, Va., ratified a new contract on August 23.

The collective bargaining agreement, he added, was retroactive to August 20, and was ratified by each of the three locals during the week of August 19, but each union reserved its decision on a blanket increase of four cents an hour.

Considers Contract Valid
The PWOC official explained that he considered the Luke contract action complete with yesterday's vote.

Sayre added that he will visit the Covington mill next and that he anticipates similar action there and at Williamsburg Saturday.

A company official said that operations at the Luke plant will resume this morning with day workers reporting at 7 o'clock and tour workers at 8 o'clock.

Will Resume Operations
Some machines can be placed into operation at once, another group will be ready for operation by noon and at least ninety per cent of the plant should be in operation by 8 p. m., company officials believed.

Although maintenance crews have been kept on the job, much of the machinery is subject to rust and must be cleaned before it can be used, a company official reported.

Arrangements to resume work were made by company and union officials after the company was informed of the back-to-work vote.

The bombshell decision of the AFL's International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers to begin an active organizing campaign was continued yesterday with an announcement by Milton E. Bever, international representative of the union, that the campaign is "going along nicely."

Reports Successful Campaign
Bever said that organizers at the Williamsburg and Covington mills reported success and added that the Luke campaign is going "very well."

The AFL organizer said he believed he had enough reported authorization cards at the present time to insure an election. The National Labor Relations Board, he added, usually requires that one-third of the workers sign before scheduling an election.

Bever said he was "unable to see why" Sayre would continue the strike. He said he was signing organizing cards. Most workers, he added, have said they were glad to "denounce the CIO's representation."

Lost Run-off Election
The AFL pact had a run-off election in August, 1944, for representation of the three mills but all three locals kept charters in force.

A CIO official reported that a successfully completed contract at the three mills "might be a bar to holding the election" should the NLRB hold a hearing on the AFL union's petition.

Police Seek Occupants Of Crash Car

Police were searching early yesterday morning for the occupants of a Ford sedan bearing Pennsylvania tags which was badly damaged when it went out of control and crashed on Virginia avenue last evening at 11:30 o'clock.

Detective Edwin R. Lilla, who investigated with Officer R. M. Nuse, said that one of the four boys seen in the car was believed to have been slightly hurt in the crash. All of the teen age youths were gone, however, when officers arrived.

The car, Detective Lilla said, was traveling north on Virginia avenue when it crashed near the B. and O. Y.M.C.A. and came to rest on its side on the pavement after turning over several times.

The car, the police reported, is believed to have been stolen.

Two Persons Treated In Memorial Hospital

Walter G. Kraus, Baltimore and Ohio railroad dispatcher, 227 Saratoga street, was treated in Memorial hospital last evening at 10:10 o'clock for a laceration of the right leg. The Allegheny high school instructor said he was bitten by a dog.

John King Wins Print Exhibit

"Waiting," a photograph by John R. King, was judged the best of forty prints now being exhibited at the Cumberland Free Public Library by the Cumberland Camera Club.

King's wife, Mrs. Gladys King, won second prize with her print, "Old-fashioned Gospel Party." Third prize was awarded to Richard Sizler for his "Whose Idea Was This?"

James Warden's "Seaman First Class" captured first honorable mention and Sam H. Dooley won second honorable mention with "What Is This Creature?"

Judges of the exhibit were Mrs. Ruth E. Kolb, former art teacher and member of the Maryland Institute, Arthur H. Stull and William S. Sparks.

The exhibit will be open to the public for two weeks. During that period, members of the general public who visit the display will be permitted to express their choice among the forty-three pictures on display. Those results will be announced later.

New York Firm Begins Lighting Installation At Local Airport

Installation of lights at the Cumberland Municipal Airport has been started by the Edward Zwicker Corporation of New York city, according to Arthur Newman, superintendent of construction for the well-known electrical firm.

The contract calls for the installation of a transformer vault for current used at the airport, a steel beacon tower, runway lights and a wind vane.

Primary current used at the airport will be 2,300 volts and all cables to furnish runway lights will be laid underground. All lights will be controlled from the administration building.

Bert Morse will be resident engineer in charge of electrical work here.

Prom twelve to fifteen workers will be employed on the installation which should be completed in about six weeks, Newman reported.

An estimated $100,000 worth of material, supplied by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, will be used in lighting the local airport.

The New York firm recently submitted the low bid for the lighting of New York City's Idle Wild airport. It has completed installation of lights at fifteen airports for the CAA.

Flintstone Man Hurt

H. L. Browning, 54 Flintstone, was treated in Allegheny hospital yesterday at 5:30 p. m. for a deep laceration of the right hand. He told attaches he cut himself while using a saw at his home.

C. and P. Elects Mark Sullivan

President; Succeeds L. B. Wilson

Former Position Closely Associated New Head with System

Mark R. Sullivan, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was elected president of the four Chesapeake and Potomac telephone companies to succeed Lloyd B. Wilson who held that office from 1929 through his recent resignation.

Wilson was elected chairman of the four boards of directors and will take over his position October 1, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company announced.

Sullivan, a native of California, has accumulated several years' experience with the Bell system. For the past four years he served as vice president in charge of the department of operation and engineering of the parent company, a position to which Maj. William H. Harrison, who has been engaged in war work with the War Production Board and army signal corps, has returned.

Sullivan will be chairman of the four boards in the future.

X-Ray Helped Win World War II, Physician Says

X-ray examination of all heavy artillery shells used by American armies and navies was one of the reasons for the accuracy of our ordnance in World War II, Dr. R. Rhett Rathbone, local physician, told the members of the Cumberland Exchange club last evening.

The radiologist, speaking at the weekly dinner meeting of the club, reviewed the history of the X-ray.

The address, he pointed out, was timely since next month will see the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of X-ray.

The first X-ray picture, Dr. Rathbone said, was the image of a key which was formed on a photographic plate which was placed near a tube in the laboratory of a German physicist, W. C. Roentgen.

Used in Industry
During recent years, industry has made liberal use of the X-ray for the examination of its products.

All heavier guns, he pointed out, were X-rayed during manufacture for defects in workmanship and all shells above five inches were checked.

X-rays are used in medicine both for the diagnosis and treatment of the human body. Every part of the body, he added, can now be studied by such examination. It has been used very successfully, Dr. Rathbone explained, for various skin diseases and sinus infections and is successful in the treatment of practically all early surface cancers.

Board Meets Tuesday
Special guests of the club last evening were W. H. Adams, Pittsburgh, and Leon Hook and F. S. Goss, all of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

The board of control of the club will meet Tuesday, September 25, at the home of the president, Charles L. George, 202 Greene street.

The next meeting of the club, the monthly business session, will be held at the YMCA next Thursday.

Lt. Brode Is Released From Active Service

Lt. (jg) Charles E. Brode, husband of Mrs. Betty Foreman Brode, 15 North Lee street, was released from active duty at Alameda, Cal., after three years of service.

In the navy since December 15, 1942, Brode flew fifty missions from a carrier in the Pacific theater. He won the DFC for scoring a direct hit on an enemy destroyer.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brode, 307 Franklin street, Brode was graduated from LaSalle high school in 1939. He was employed by the Times and Allegheny Company and will return to work there.

HOSPITAL LICENSING BOARD PLANS FORM FOR APPLICATIONS

An application form for licenses to operate hospitals was adopted by the first meeting of the advisory board on hospital licensing to the state department of health.

The new board, created under the Hospital Licensing law of 1945, elected Dr. Winford H. Smith, director of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, chairman, and Dr. Dean Roberts, chief of the bureau of medical services, secretary.

A license to operate a hospital must be obtained by any institution that cares for or treats two or more non-related patients suffering from mental or physical ailments. Standards of licensing will be established according to the class of hospital.

The physical inspection of institutions by the department of health was also planned at the meeting.

RED CROSS CONTINUES HOME NURSING COURSE

The Red Cross will continue to sponsor home nursing courses despite the end of the war, Mrs. Lee W. Withers, executive secretary of Allegheny county chapter, said yesterday.

One of the most intensive home nursing campaigns conducted by the Red Cross will begin soon, she said. The emphasis is being placed on the greater need for home nursing because of the shortage of civilian and medical facilities.

The future of the American families' health is also a factor in the continuation of the courses, Mrs. Withers explained.

Passes Examination

Ralph E. Lepley, Parkside boulevard, LaVale, local plumber, has received notice from the Maryland State Board of Plumbing that he successfully passed his examination as a registered master plumber, which he took in Baltimore several weeks ago. Lepley is one of the few persons to pass the examination the first time.

Rec Club Council Discusses Program

Futures policies in the YMCA Rec club program were discussed at the initial meeting of the Rec club council with the club's advisory committee at Central YMCA at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Committee members present were Miss Louise Cornell, Mrs. W. A. Eisenberger, Mrs. George T. Woodworth, and W. Donald Smith. Council members present were Dick Groves, Frank Moss, Fred Partlett, Miss Jean Watt, Miss Doris Thrasher, Miss Dolores Chase, James Radcliffe, Thomas Powers, Miss Marion Warden, Miss Patty Bowie, Miss Katherine Schade, Miss Shirley Sapp and Stanley Bishop, president of the Rec club council.

Robert L. Saxon, general YMCA secretary and advisor to the Rec club, also attended the meeting, at which the club's constitution and by-laws were approved.

Members of the second division, named after the crack "Capitol Limited" Baltimore and Ohio train, of the YMCA membership campaign were announced yesterday.

Mrs. Porter D. Collins, chairman, is also leader of a team including Mrs. L. R. Meyers, Mrs. Harry Snowden, Mrs. S. Hodge Smith, Miss Joan Walsh and Miss Dolores Chase.

Mrs. William M. Somerville, co-chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Roy W. Eves, assistant leader; Mrs. J. W. Bishop, Miss Anna Quayle, Mrs. Nat Guggenheimer, Mrs. Ann Everline, Mrs. John H. Somerville, Mrs. Blair Bishop and the Misses Eleanor Bradford and June Alday.

Mrs. George T. Woodworth will head a team including the Misses Barbara Croyle, Dorothy Spiker, Mildred Davis, Nancy Taylor, Louise Cornell, Mary Coyle, Doris Thrasher and Ann Martin.

Miss Jane Gilchrist's team comprises Mrs. John Dietz and the Misses Naomi Enfield, Norma Avers, Wilma King, Kathleen Keenan and Claire Livesay.

Mrs. George N. Philippi is also acting as co-chairman of the division. The membership campaign will begin Monday and last until October 1.

The NEWS carried a story yesterday morning wherein a California minister predicted the world will end Friday at 5:33 p. m. If the ends does not come at that time, it will come precisely two hours later, he said.

Bernard Hill Returns From European Theater

Cpl. Bernard M. Hill, 24, son of Mrs. M. B. Hill, 616 E. 1st street, and husband of Mrs. Margaret Hill, 630 North Centre street, has arrived at Camp Miles Standish, Mass., from Germany. He expects to receive his discharge at Fort Meade.

In the army thirty-eight months, Cpl. Hill has been overseas nineteen months. He served with the air corps in England until last February when he volunteered for infantry service. He was with the Forty-seventh division in the ETO.

Among the local and tri-state servicemen returning from the Pacific theater are the following men:

Technical Sgt. Mark M. Davis, RFD 4; Pvt. Clinton J. Davis, Probst; Pvt. Herbert H. Stark, Vin-dex; T-4 Frederick F. George, Accident; Tech. Sgt. Carl C. Shroul, Kingwood, W. Va.; and Pfc. Carl W. Sell, Horseshoe Run, W. Va.

Arrangements have been made with the Western Maryland railway to close Baltimore street crossing Sunday for three days so that a new crossing may be installed, according to Commissioner James Orr and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

The company will furnish several of its own officers to assist in handling detoured traffic.

A section of Frederick street in front of the Public Safety building is being blockaded. One-way traffic was established yesterday to permit eastbound buses leaving the Blue Ridge bus depot to use the street, but westbound traffic was detoured to Bedford street.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor said yesterday that 250 printed copies of the city's financial report for the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1945, are now available.

Celanese Contract Negotiations Will Resume Monday

Commissioner Holden Reports Meetings Are Progressing Satisfactorily

Negotiations between the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, for a collective bargaining agreement for workers at the Amcell plant will be resumed Monday morning, James A. Holden, United States Commissioner of Conciliation, announced last evening.

Holden reported that Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the TWUA rayon division, will participate in Monday's conference, the third to be held with the federal labor official.

Negotiations Progressing
All day conferences were conducted Tuesday and yesterday and Holden reported that negotiations are progressing satisfactorily.

Holden, who has assisted in the settlement of numerous labor disputes in this city, was called in after the initial conference between the company and union last Thursday.

James A. Dundon, regional TWUA director, reported after that meeting that negotiations were deadlocked after the company rejected the entire union proposal. A company official declared the proposed agreement too far out of question to be considered.

No change, however, has been made in the plans for a strike vote scheduled here under National Labor Relations Board supervision September 28.

Will Be Test Case
The results of the contract negotiations are important not only to local textile workers but, according to George Baldanzi, TWUA executive vice president, to the entire synthetic rayon division of TWUA.

Among the union's demands are an immediate increase of ten cents an hour for all employees and an one-half cent an hour wherever the work week returns to forty hours.

A group insurance plan paid for by the company, a pension plan and protection for the local's returning veterans is also asked by Local 1874.

SCHOOL GIRL WANTS TO DIE AT HOME WHEN WORLD ENDS

A Cumberland woman telephoned the NEWS last night to inquire what general preparations are being made for the big event. A dense reporter immediately inquired, "What big event?"

The lady replied, "Why, the end of the world, of course."

She then inquired if West Side School would be closed today and tomorrow and when the reporter replied not as far as he knew, the lady said that she thought it would be awkward for mothers and their children to be separated at a time like this. She said that in her own case it was all settled as her daughter had voluntarily stated that she would remain home today and tomorrow as she "preferred to die at home instead of in a school house."

By this time the reporter had raised sufficiently to mutter that "no man knoweth the day or the hour" and the lady said, yes, that was true, and that she recalled when a man predicted the end of the world shortly after the First World war but that it was eventually proved he had merely had "one too many."

"Let's hope that the same thing is true in this case," the lady concluded gravely.

The NEWS carried a story yesterday morning wherein a California minister predicted the world will end Friday at 5:33 p. m. If the ends does not come at that time, it will come precisely two hours later, he said.

Munday Is Paroled By Judge Capper

Robert Munday, Cumberland, arraigned yesterday afternoon in circuit court on a charge of forgery, entered a plea of guilty and was paroled for two years by Associate Judge Walter C. Capper.

Indicted by the grand jury during the April term of court, Munday was accused of forging his brother's name to an order for a watch valued at $95, which was obtained at a local jewelry store.

Munday, represented by Edward J. Ryan, was ordered to support his family, refrain from drinking and report to court at each jury term during the period of his parole.

Dr. James S. Chubb Will Address Rally of Methodists Here Tonight

Evangelism Service Inaugurates Second Phase of Crusade for Christ

Dr. James S. Chubb, associate secretary of the Methodist board of evangelism at Nashville, Tenn., will address an evangelism rally to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight by Methodists of Cumberland and vicinity in Centre Street church.

The meeting will begin the second phase of the five-point Crusade for Christ, to which the Methodist church has committed itself during the four years 1945-49. The emphasis during the first year just closing was on the raising of $25,000,000 for war relief, reconstruction, and other missionary projects.

Of this amount, over $27,000,000 was pledged, with more than $20,000,000 paid. Cumberland area churches pledged excess of $40,000. Other features of the Crusade for Christ are "A New World Order," "Stewardship," and "Church School Promotion."

The Rev. William F. Wright, D. D., superintendent of Hagerstown district, of which Cumberland is a part, will be the speaker.

Mrs. Chester Marsh, Pioneer Arts And Crafts Leader, Is Visiting Here

Recreation Director and Lecturer Is Sister of William L. Geppert

Mrs. Chester Marsh, who has been serving at National Girl Scout headquarters in New York city for the past ten years as arts and crafts advisor, came here Monday to spend ten days with her brother, William L. Geppert, managing editor of the Cumberland News, and Mrs. Geppert, 766 Fayette street.

Mrs. Marsh, a pioneer in recreation work, is en route to Winston-Salem, N. C., where she will take charge of an arts and crafts workshop in an experimental recreation project to be sponsored by that city. The project, which will begin October 1, will be carried on for a trial period of three years, with the city and the Junior League association as joint sponsors.

Organized Workshop
In recreation work for twenty-five years, Mrs. Marsh began her career in San Diego and Oakland, Calif. She was appointed recreation director in Westchester county, N. Y., in 1923, and in 1930 she organized an arts and crafts workshop at White Plains, the county seat.

Although there were only three instructors when the workshop was opened, in the first year 800 persons, both children and adults, came there for instruction. At the present time twenty-six activities in creative art are offered, including instruction in weaving, pottery, clay modeling, and photography, with an estimated annual attendance of 6,000 persons.

Special days are set aside for potentially delinquent children, who are given an opportunity to develop their talents along creative lines.

The Westchester workshop also provides courses with university credits for teachers in ceramics, art, education, the history of art, and other allied subjects.

The Winston-Salem workshop will be similar to that organized by Mrs. Marsh in Westchester county, with the exception that the project will be financed by the city and not by the county.

University Lecturer
A pioneer in the theory that a well-rounded recreation program should provide creative work as well as a program of athletics, Mrs. Marsh has lectured at Columbia university, Yale university and Boston university. During her affiliation with National Girl Scout headquarters she contributed a discussion on arts and crafts for Scouts to the revised handbook of the organization which was published in 1938.

One son, Geppert Marsh, who was graduated from the Columbia school of journalism in 1929, is working in public relations for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York city. Another son, Louis Marsh, a former program director for Station WMBR in Hartford, Conn., en route home on leave after serving aboard the carrier Essex in the Southwest Pacific as a quartermaster second class.

Mrs. Marsh's only daughter, Miss Sallie Marsh, who will come here Saturday before accompanying her husband to Winston-Salem, has been employed as a secretary in the shortwave broadcasting division of the Columbia Broadcasting System in New York city.

At the confluence of the Shenandoah and Potomac rivers at Harpers Ferry, the level of the water rose slowly throughout Wednesday, climbing to three inches above the eighteen-foot flood mark at 6 p. m. Indications were that the peak would reach the twenty-foot mark.

The river high point here was reached Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. when a height of 13.81 feet was reported. Flood stage at Wiley Ford is 17.1 feet. At 8 a. m. Wednesday it measured 12.22 feet and at 8 a. m. yesterday it measured 10.81 feet. The river continued to recede slowly all day yesterday.

West Virginia's eastern panhandle still was bothered with high water last night but in the remainder of the state subsiding streams ended all flood threats. Roads which were blocked around Clarksburg and Fairmont Wednesday night were completely clear yesterday.

Potter Hears Sons Of Legion Committee

R. F. Potter will take over as chairman of the Sons of the Legion at a meeting today at 7:15 p. m. at the Legion home when committee members will be introduced to the young members.

Members of the committee which works in conjunction with the Sons of the Legion include Fred Puderbaugh, George Tipton, Richard Spangler, Ambrose Burke, Roland Showers, Russell Paupe and Phil Fleming, co-chairman.

Following the meeting drum corps practice will be conducted at 7:45 p. m. A feed for members will follow, Fleming said.

Robert Huffman Dies

Robert H. Huffman, 67, Purgittsville, W. Va., farmer died yesterday morning at 7:15 o'clock in Memorial hospital where he was admitted September 7.

VANMETER CHILD RITES

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Pleasant Dale church, Augusta, W. Va., for Robert William VanMeter, 11-month-old son of Raymond and Virginia Lease VanMeter, Route 5, who died Tuesday in Memorial hospital. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

River, Receding Here, Hits Flood Stage Elsewhere

Some Roads and Fields Are Inundated East of Cumberland

The Potomac River continued to recede yesterday in this vicinity although the Associated Press reported last night that the river reached flood stages at several points between Cumberland and Harpers Ferry, W. Va.

The AP report said the river overflowed its banks in several sections, inundating secondary highways, fields and orchards. Property damage was said to be slight, however.

At the confluence of the Shenandoah and Potomac rivers at Harpers Ferry, the level of the water rose slowly throughout Wednesday, climbing to three inches above the eighteen-foot flood mark at 6 p. m. Indications were that the peak would reach the twenty-foot mark.
